Identity Theft Awareness Week

Jan 26–30, 2026

Voice cloning is when AI is used to imitate someone's voice. It's also known as an audio deepfake. Scammers use voice cloning to orchestrate vishing (voice phishing) attacks, often urging their victims to provide sensitive personal information or send cash. AI can clone any voice nearly instantly by analyzing just a few seconds of vocal audio, which scammers often find by scraping social media accounts. Then, they can target someone with a convincing vishing call or voice note, imitating a family member, accountant, or doctor, for example. AI identity theft and fraud are evolving rapidly. Deepfakes and other AI scams will grow more sophisticated and become harder to detect. Understanding the latest AI threats will help you keep your personal info safer, but investing in identity theft protection can add an extra layer of protection. When in doubt, the best practice is to call the Credit Union directly for any suspicious activity.

Member Statements

We recommend that our members save seven years of their Postal Family FCU statements, which is the IRS standard for audits. If you receive paper statements, please keep them in a safe, secure place, in case you need them in the future. If you receive E-Statements from us, be sure to save each month to a folder for you to access as you need them. Our E-Statement vendor only retains 30 days of history, so it is up to you to save each month on your computer. If you ever need a statement, we are able to retrieve them through our archives; however, there is a charge of $5 per statement for the time and expense it takes for us to research this for you.
